WHY IT SHOULD NOT BE

Congressman Whitthorn gives some excellent reasons why the projected inter-ocean canal should not be built. He refers to the Dardanelles and Gibraltar that caused so much trouble between France, England and Spain. The Dardanelles is the strait that connects the Black sea with the Sea of Marmora, and controls the commerce from the central part of Austria and the southern part of Russia. The strait of Gibraltar connects the Mediterranean with the Atlantic ocean and controls the commerce of the southern part of Europe and Northern Africa. Congressman Whitthorn contends that an inter-ocean canal would lead to much trouble, and impose on our government the necessity of maintaining in both oceans vast navies to protect our Pacific trade. He says it would be folly for our government, with the weak grasp it already has upon the Eastern trade, to furnish, or to allow any other country to furnish a shorter cut for the wheat trade between Asia and Europe, an advantage which the European capitalists and rivals would seize upon in an instant, and use to give the finishing blow to American commerce.

LOCAL POLITICS

While the Democracy of Washoe county promises to be a unit in 1892 there is no lack of indications that the Republicans will have serious dissensions among themselves. There is no disguising the fact that there is a general uprising against the protections of any one man, or any half dozen men, carrying the county in his, or their pocket. Such an assumption is becoming more and more offensive to the great and intelligent body of voters. There is also an army here who would oppose a part of the State House clique, and if the local ring does not emphatically pronounce against some of them a strong opposition will be developed. It is well for these things to be understood, for there should either be accord between all parties or else an open war. There is much danger of secret conspiracy and trading with the enemy, and any rat can sink a noble ship.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Carson Index strongly endorses Hon. R. M. Daggett as a candidate for either Governor or member of Congress.

A great deal of pressure is being brought to bear upon Congress for the passage of a national bankruptcy law.

The Carson Index has been enlarged to a 24-column paper. It is a handsome paper and shows prospect.

The Grass Valley Tidings, Sacramento Bee, and other papers have "annals."

COAST NEWS

W. H. Pratt, foreman of the carpenter shop at the Combination shaft, cut off a portion of his left thumb while at work Sunday. He left just a speck of the nail.

It rained hard all day Tuesday at Palisade.

Some exceedingly high assays have recently been made from ore taken from the Onondago mine in Safford District.

On Monday last Mr. James Meyers of Ruby valley, had one of his feet badly mangled by a horse tramping upon it.

The rainfall at Stockton for date is 2.65 inches; at Nevada City, 1.7 inches; at Colusa, 4.05 inches; and at Napa, 6.79 inches.

NINETEEN BUCKSHOT

SAN FRANCISCO, December 29. A Tombstone dispatch says: Deputy U. S. Marshal Earp was fired upon while crossing Fifth street last night, by three men armed with shotguns. The assassins were concealed in an unfurnished building, and escaped in the darkness. Nineteen buckshot struck Earp, inflicting dangerous and perhaps mortal wounds. The assassin is undoubtedly the outgrowth of the recent fight with Cowboys in which Earp was engaged. The gangsters threatened the lives of Earp and his supporters. The citizens are greatly excited.

FEARS OF AN EPIDEMIC

SAN FRANCISCO, December 29. Citizens of Oakland are uneasy about a number of cases of small-pox in the city, and some fears are entertained of an epidemic. A general purification of the city is talked of.

FLIPPER DISMISSED

GALVESTON, Texas, December 29. The military at San Antonio are non-committal regarding Flipper's sentence. It is rumored he has been dismissed from the service.

Press Dispatches to Evening Gazette.

EASTERN.

THE MURDERER.

That Shows that Bob and I Are Both Cracked.

WASHINGTON, December 29.

The Court is densely packed despite the rainy weather. A rumor is current this morning that the jury, with one exception, are satisfied of Guiteau's sanity and legal responsibility. The twelfth juror, it is said, stoutly maintains that Guiteau is as crazy as a March hare. The prisoner was taken without demonstration to the prisoner's dock, which is about 25 feet from the counsel, upon the left side of the room. A narrow passage separates it from the large window which overlooks Louisiana avenue.

Guiteau glanced around the room and then out the window, and exhibited some nervousness at his apparently exposed position. He started in to make his usual morning speech. "I noticed," he said, "as I rode up in the van this morning, that the usual guard and police had been withdrawn. Now I want to say emphatically that I was turned out to-morrow. I would take care of myself, but so long as I am in the custody of this Court, the Court is bound to protect me. There is more danger of my being shot when riding to and from the jail in the van than at any other time, and I want your Honor to make an order that the usual guard shall accompany me. The cranks are not all dead yet, though they are fast dying off. As a matter of fact it would require but one crank with sufficient nerve to shoot. I am making more friends every day, and getting lots of letters of sympathy. I don't anticipate any danger except from cranks."

Dr. Callendon was called. Before any question was put, Judge Cox remarked: "As a statement was made yesterday that the Court surrounded the prisoner with the usual guards and protection, he would state that the prisoner was in the custody of the Marshal, and not of the Court, and whatever extra guard has been furnished has been supplied by him."

Guiteau—Well, then, Your Honor, if the Marshal won't do his duty, I appeal to the Court. If the Marshal won't furnish a proper guard, kick him out, and let us have a new Marshal.

Scoville desired to exhibit to the witness, as an expert, a letter written by Guiteau some ten days since, to Senator Don Cameron.

Scoville then asked the witness: "Will you give your opinion whether such a letter as that, written to a man he did not know, does not indicate unsoundness of mind?"

Answer—"I don't think it indicates unsoundness of mind. It seems to me consistent with his character and habit through life, of soliciting money from sources where he had no reason to expect it."

Guiteau—I don't think so either. It only shows what a jackass you are, Scoville.

Col. Kirkhill—Your Honor, if these interruptions on the part of the prisoner are to continue, I want to request that the dock be placed in another part of the room.

Scoville—You can place it in the cellar if you want, we don't object.

Kirkhill—You can't object.

Scoville—We don't desire to object. All we ask is that you make your motion, if you have one to make, and not harangue the Jury as you did yesterday.

Scoville—Then read the witness the hypothetical question of the defense. The witness replied: "Upon that hypothesis, he is insane."

Guiteau interrupted from his place in the dock, and shouted out in harsh tones—Hold on. I want to say something about that letter. I protest against its being read here. I wrote to Senator Cameron ten days ago, asking him for a loan of $500. It was entirely a private matter. I estimated it to my brother to give to Senator Cameron, and he withheld it in a miserable mean way, and I gave it to this man Scoville. My brother had better go back to Boston, and try and make some money and pay his debts. He has been a perfect nuisance on this case ever since he has been here. He and Scoville have dragged themselves into this case, to make notoriety at my expense. I repudiate them both. Scoville, you had better go back to Chicago. You are a perfect jackass on this case, and I won't have you in it any longer.

Davidge objected to the letter, but the Court overruled his objection, and Scoville then read:

To Hon. Don Cameron—Dear Sir: I am on trial for my life. I need money. I am the Steward of Stalwarts, and so are you. You think a great deal of General Arthur and so do I. My inspiration made him President, and I am going to ask you to let me have five hundred dollars. If I get out of this I will return it. If not, charge it to the Stalwarts. Yours for cause, and very cordially, CHAS. GUITEAU. In court, Washington, D. C., 19, 1891. P. S.—Please give your check to my brother, J. W. Guiteau, of Boston, and make it payable to my order.

C. J. The prisoner commented: "I don't care a snap about it one way or the other. If you had presented it you would probably have got the money, but as you concealed it in a mean sneaking way you did not get the money. It is a very good letter any way, but I don't like this way of stopping and stealing my private letters and dragging them into court."

Dr. Walter Kempster, Superintendent of the Wisconsin State-Hospital for the insane had devoted his attention to the study of insanity for fifteen years. The witness was familiar with the process of taking the conformity of the head, and did not believe much importance, as a rule, could be attached to the shape of the head in determining a question of sanity or insanity. The witness exhibited a number of slips showing the shape, as taken by the conform, of heads, a number of gentlemen including Treasurer Giffilen, Col. Ingersoll, Judge Carter, W. J. Sibley and Col. Corkhill.

"In the case of Colonel Ingersoll," the witness remarked, pointing his finger, "this side appears flat as compared with the other."

Guiteau—That shows that Bob and I are both cracked in some direction. "Colonel Corkhill's head," said the witness, "has a very marked depression upon one side."

Guiteau (interrupting)—I'll bet you could put your foot in the depression in his head.

The witness, continuing, said: "The depression is very similar to that noticed in the prisoner's head. [Laughter.]

A Change in the Current of Trade.

NEW YORK, December 29.

To-morrow the first through train over the Southern Pacific railroad will leave San Francisco bound for New Orleans, and it is probable that a train going west will leave New Orleans at the same time. The completion of the road connecting the Pacific with the Gulf of Mexico, is an event of national interest. Its effects on the currents of commerce will no doubt be to cause a large portion of the grain which now goes to Europe from California by way of the long sea passage around Cape Horn to take the much shorter route by way of New Orleans. The road will be of great and immediate benefit to the metropolis of the gulf, which declined in business and population in the decade following the war, and has only begun to recuperate since the completion of the Mississippi jetties. It will also facilitate the rapid settlement of Northern Texas, develop the mining resources of New Mexico and Arizona, and give fresh and needed stimulus to the growth of California.

Heroic Treatment Recommended.

NEW YORK, December 29.

Another evidence that the majority of the House is ripe for severe measures against the Mormon hierarchy is found in the general favor with which is received the bill of Willets to abolish the territorial legislature of Utah, and substitute therefor a legislative council of nine members to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. It is understood that a majority of the Committee of Judiciary have already expressed themselves in favor of that, or some measure like it, and the probabilities are it will be favorably reported to the House early in session. There is every probability that a measure will be passed, so changing the laws relating to the evidence in the Utah Courts as to make it practicable to obtain convictions for a violation of statutes against polygamy. There is a strong disposition also to disfranchise and disqualify for holding office all persons sustaining polygamous relations.

After the Adulterers.

NEW YORK, December 29.

A warm debate on the Mormon question is expected in the House at an early date, when the Campbell-Cannon contest comes before that body for action. It is thought probable that neither candidate will be admitted, and an effort will be made to deprive Utah of representation so long as polygamy is practiced and protected in that Territory.

A Murderer Killed.

MEMPHIS, December 29.

Ed. Nelson, the negro murderer who, with sixteen others, recently escaped from Herndon, Miss., Jail, was shot and killed early this morning by Chief Police W. C. Davis, while making his way to the Arkansas shore with others.

Substantial Reasons why the Inter-Oceanic Canal Should Not Be Built.

NEW YORK, December 29.

The Tribune's Washington correspondent interviewed Congressman Whitthorne on the inter-oceanic canal. The latter said in effect: There are two spots on the earth's surface, Gibraltar and the Dardanelles, that show us why we should not encourage other conflicts of the same sort by digging an ocean canal to draw the fleets and navies of Europe to our shores and to impose on us the necessity of maintaining in both oceans vast navies to protect our Pacific trade, as well as the immense course of the Mississippi and its tributaries, which seeks an outlet through the Gulf of Mexico. It would be folly enough for us, with the weak grasp we already have upon the Eastern trade, ourselves to furnish, or to allow anybody else to furnish, a shorter cut for the wheat trade between Asia and Europe, an advantage which our European competitors and rivals would seize upon in an instant and use to give the finishing blow to American commerce. Again, there is a political reason why we cannot allow our neighbor, Colombia, to do a thing which we as a nation do continually, that is to permit and encourage indefinitely large amounts of foreign capital there. We know perfectly well, no matter how many hundred million dollars of English or other foreign capital is invested in this country, in railroads, canal, or other enterprises, it is absolutely free from foreign political control. With Colombia the case is radically different. Say, for example, what if America should conclude to invest a hundred million dollars in the Panama canal, and should send 10,000 men from the United States to build it, how long do you think it would be before American capital and American brains would gain political control of Colombia?

Blue Black, says the Sun, was the descriptive nickname of a Chicago negro woman. Her husband was not only white but a pronounced blonde. This union of color was unhappy in all respects. The wife was discarded by her family for marrying a white man, her father taking the ground that the Creator disapproved of miscegenation, and the husband, finding that his former friends despised him, soon managed to obtain a divorce. This decree was irregular, however, having been secured without any notice to the defendant, and on charges which could not have been sustained if there had been a hearing of both sides. When the woman learned of it she bought a pistol. She said that she meant to commit suicide, but missing the man, and fearing he would kill her, she illogically shot him in self-defense. He is dead, at all events, and she evinces a desire to live by engaging counsel to save her from the gallows.

Two ladies, newly brought conspicuously into Washington society are the wives of Secretary Frelinghuysen and Speaker Keifer. The former is thus described by the Philadelphia Press: "She is a lady rather reticent than communicative, but a ready converser, and as well calculated to adorn the social life of the State Department as one who has her intimate personal friend, Mrs. Hamilton Fish, and probably not inferior to the latter, which is high praise." Of Mrs. Keifer the Cincinnati Gazette says: "She is a tall, well-proportioned lady, graceful and sensible, rather than handsome. She was Miss Eliza S. Stout, of Springfield, Ohio, and was brought up almost side by side with her husband. She has not, however, been much in Washington during her husband's four years here."

In order that the public may fully realize the genuineness of the statements, as well as the power and value of the article of which they speak, we publish herewith the following statements of parties whose identity is beyond question. The truth of these testimonials is absolute, not only the facts they announce but the cures.

RENO, THURSDAY, July 14, 1881.

Mrs. H. Warner & Co., Rochester, N. Y.

DEAR SIR:—I am writing you the following statement of the facts of my life, and of the cure of my disease, which has been the source of much suffering, and which failed to yield to the doctor's remedies, or any other, until I used your safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I have been a sufferer from this disease for many years, and have been treated by the best medical men in the country, but have never been cured, and I am now a well man.

Yours truly, S. M. Warner.

RENO, THURSDAY, July 14, 1881.

Mrs. H. Warner & Co., Rochester, N. Y.

DEAR SIR:—I am writing you the following statement of the facts of my life, and of the cure of my disease, which has been the source of much suffering, and which failed to yield to the doctor's remedies, or any other, until I used your safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I have been a sufferer from this disease for many years, and have been treated by the best medical men in the country, but have never been cured, and I am now a well man.

Yours truly, S. M. Warner.

Mayor of Moline.
